EVGENIA VOTANOPOULOU / PIANO

Evgenia Votanopoulou was born and educated in Athens, Greece. She started playing the piano at the age of five and after ten years she won her first award as a young pianist. She studied with L. Boyadjieva, A. Papastefanou and L. Stoyanova and in 1992 she graduated with distinction from the National Conservatory of Athens, Greece, having obtained the Diploma of Piano, Diploma of Advanced Theory Studies (harmony, counterpoint, fugue) and the Diploma of Choir conducting.

In 1998 Evgenia represented Greece at the "Second International Women's Musical Meeting". She has given numerous performances as a soloist, a chamber musician and piano accompanist in Greece, Serbia and Germany. She has performed for the National Hellenic Radio and has recorded B. Athanasiadis' compositions for solo piano in Tokyo, Japan. She has also composed and recorded the music for a book on kinaesthetic activities for children. She is currently a Professor of Piano and Professor of Music at the Arsakeio School of Athens.
